Water Ramps at Bald Eagle Lake

PROGRAM GUIDE AND INFORMATION

2018

General Information

The Water Ramp at the Bald Eagle Lake is a one of a kind facility. It provides fun summer training for all ability levels. The facility has five jumps - a small cheese wedge for beginners, two simulated mogul jumps, a single kicker and a freeskiing/park-style takeoff. The facility also features three in-ground trampolines. The SSWSC water ramp park is the ideal summer training spot for freestyle athletes. Please note, the water ramps are open to skiers ONLY, for safety reasons, use of snowboards is not allowed on the ramps.

SSWSC training programs for the summer of 2017 consists of set times for various groups of athletes (see SSWSC program guide on www.sswsc.org for dates and times). These sessions are fully coached and are open to visiting athletes at drop-in rates. Training will include warm-up, gymnastics and trampoline progressions and water ramp training.

Location

The Water Ramps are located south of downtown, close to the base of Rabbit Ears Pass at the Bald Eagle Water Ski Lake:

35565 South Highway 40, Steamboat Springs, CO 80487
-After you turn off Highway 40, the parking lot for the water ramps is located all the way at the end of the dirt driveway.
